Dear STAA Families,

Good day, my friends in Christ. I was recently informed of a change in requirements for all public, and private schools, which may eventually include our independent home school. This continues to be an area of small concern that we are handling with prudence. Although our state representatives that I have spoken to are telling us that there are no laws to officially include homeschoolers in the groups of required schools to submit immunization records, HSLDA is encouraging us to continue keep records on file regardless. We, at STAA, would like to continue to keep these records on file and have easy access to these immunization records (or exemptions) to send in if requested to do so. We have followed up with HSLDA and they have assured us that no personal information is legally required, and that this is not a law set by legislation. We continue to pray that no stricter mandates are inflicted upon home education.

As a result, we will need each family to mail or email a copy of any updated forms, per child, as necessary where it will be stored in your files for my eyes only. Please note that these files are confidential and are not shared with anyone. Please do inform me of any changes that need to be updated throughout your enrollment with STAA.

I appreciate your cooperation, and as always, do not hesitate to contact me with questions or concerns.

God's Blessings,
